

Working Together with Children and Families

Nansen Primary School

What is this showcase about?

Taking part in the OAG Parent Carer Action Research Project, Nansen Primary School worked with parents to strengthen communication and involvement in their child's SEND support. The school focused on helping families understand what support is available and creating more opportunities for parents to be involved in planning and reviewing provision.

Expect to see...

- How the school gathered parent feedback to identify priorities for communication and involvement
- The actions taken to strengthen partnership working and improve information sharing
- Reflections on how clearer communication and parent involvement increased confidence
